BENCH MYWAY

With Alejandro de la Sota in mind, with his concept of "Simple Simplicity" and Miesian thinking with the Barcelona Pavilion, the MyWay Bench was born.

MyWay is a bench designed so that the buyer can create an element of high architectural value and, depending on his choice, play with materials, colours and arrangement of pieces.

MyWay consists of three main pieces: a leg, a base and a high support element that can also act as an armrest. These three parts can be made of different materials and you can play around with the arrangement..

Technical Specifications

The creation of the bench will depend on the buyer's choice, as the versatility it has is tremendously wide in terms of shapes and materials.

Thanks to the fine, straight lines, in any of the options chosen, the result is a sober bench, with pure lines and which will transmit the feelings intended by the buyer thanks to the choice of material on both sides of the piece in this sinuous bench.
